

To reach Caesar Augustus, you'll need to make your way up the only paved road that connects Capri with Anacapri. Look out of the window: after a series of hair-raising bends, at a certain stage, you'll be greeted by a magnificent view of the Sorrentine peninsula and the Bay of Naples and, perched on the corner of a cliff edge terrace, an Ancient Roman statue. It's at this stage of the journey that taxis habitually pull over to let passengers out to take a photo. You won't need to ask your driver to stop. Because you've arrived.

The terrace with the statue belongs to Hotel Caesar Augustus. There's not another hotel in the world with a terrace quite as spectacular as this one and, just think, you'll be able to enjoy it for the duration of your stay!

Where does the sea end AND THE SKY BEGIN?

Terrace Bar

Whatever the time of day, take a seat on one of the terrace's inviting sofas and relax with a good book, a glass of fine wine or a few morsels of Mediterranean sushi...The atmosphere is even more magical in the evening, when the sound of piano music fills the air and the sky is painted with the colors of the setting sun.

Kitchen Garden

The kitchen garden, in the grounds of the hotel, is where the aromatic herbs and organic vegetables used in our chef's delicious dishes are grown. Something of a rarity on Capri, a rocky island characterized by impervious cliffs and with little if any land available for agriculture, Caesar Augustus' kitchen garden guarantees a supply of fantastically fresh ingredients - throughout the opening season. A peaceful and panoramic patch of paradise, abundant in basil, rosemary and lemongrass, our kitchen garden is one of Anacapri's sweetest-smelling secrets...

Pool

Ideal for secluded swimming and sunbathing and with breathtaking views of the bay, the vanishing pool occupies much of the lower terrace.

Capri By Boat

The best way to see Capri is from the sea! Organize an excursion aboard one of Capri's traditional fishing boats, sailing to all of the island's amazing sea caves, including the legendary Grotta Azzurra... Found your sea legs? Extend your excursion and sail to the Amalfi Coast, where you'll be able to swim in the shadow of the islets of Li Galli before stepping onto dry land and taking a tour of Positano.

Explore Some More!

Capri is so magical, you might easily spend every minute of every hour of every day of your vacation on the island. And yet, Capri provides a beautiful base from where to explore the other treasures in Italy's Campania region too...

And when the excursion is over? Return to Capri and relax in the breathtakingly beautiful Caesar Augustus...

Dinner With A View Suspended between the sea and sky, a terrace, a table for two and a view of the Bay of Naples, Mount Vesuvius and the Sorrentine Peninsula you'll never forget. Welcome to La Terrazza di Lucullo, Hotel Caesar Augustus' restaurant.

Suitcase Essentials: What to Pack

Capri is blessed with a mild Mediterranean climate, meaning that from April to October the temperature is warm and rain is rare. This said, the temperature does drop, quite considerably, in the evenings. So we suggest you always bring a light pullover or jacket with you. Given the location of the hotel's terraces, on the cliff edge, directly above the sea, ladies may find they need a shawl to protect them from the sea breeze in the evening.
